

Mr. Kittler is an ASHRAE Distinguished Lecturer and speaks regularly at ASHRAE meetings across the country. He is well regarded in the HVAC industry as an expert in dehumidification and Indoor Pool Design with over 25 years experience and is the current chairman for the CDC's (Center for Disease Control) Model Aquatic Health Code (MAHC) Ad Hoc committee for Indoor Aquatic Facility Design and Air Quality.

He has been ASHRAE TC 9.8's revisor responsible for the Applications Handbook chapter which covers Natatorium Design (Large Building Air Conditioning Applications) since 1999. He is also ex chair of TC 8.10 (Dehumidifiers and Heat Pipes) also their Handbook subcommittee chair responsible for chapter (25) in the Systems and Equipment Handbook.

Mr. Kittler is a Co-Founder and Director of Sales & Marketing for Seresco Technologies Inc., a dehumidifier manufacturer. He is a Professional Engineer with a degree in Mechanical Engineering from Lakehead University, Ontario Canada in 1989.